

LEETONIA MAN DIES IN CRASH

Today

It Went Up, It Came Down.
The President's Plans.
Tainted Football.
Men and Mice.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

RECENTLY Will Rogers wrote, "There never was a time when so many fools were making money. Today he can tell them there never was a time when so many fools were losing money so rapidly."

ONE solemn New York banker thinks the drop in the stocks "will send back to work many people who have been sitting around brokerage offices, on the trail of easy money."

TIME wasted watching tickers on blackboards will doubtless be spent more usefully hereafter. But usurious money lenders who have been charging stock gamblers eight to 20 per cent interest, are not the men to rebuke the gamblers.

YOU will hear "Big bankers have stepped in and stopped the decline."

That happens after little people have been shaken out, and stocks have dropped to a fine investment basis.

Millions today sorrowfully realize that it does not pay to gamble.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S plan for a great system of inland four year's realties, in prospect, the hope of those that welcomed an able engineer to the White House.

Total expenditures planned will amount to $25,000,000, and every dollar spent will pay for itself ten times over.

THE president observes that the annual increase in expenditure will amount only to the cost of one-half of one battleship.

The president might have added that in modern war the whole of battleship would be worth less than one-half of 10 cents, since battleships are now merely targets for submarines and airplanes, with nothing, except to battleship builders.

THE Carnegie Foundation says college football is "tainted with money." Free teaching and cash bonuses are given to young men that can kick hard, run fast and tackle savagely. It would be more pleasing if colleges sought great teachers as eagerly as they seek out quarter-backs.

BUT no great harm is done. The games and great crowds arouse young men's interest in college life and give college education to young men from rolling mills and rear ends of ice wagons that might otherwise remain uneducated.

THE Swiss parliament, elected by a moral and serious nation, proposing a law to punish blasphemy, suggests six months in prison for "insulting God," "orally or in writing insult God." Blasphemy should be punished but it sets a bad example and shows want of respect for the feelings of others.

BUT it is possible for any two-legged human microbe on this planet "to insult God?"

If the mice proposed to punish any mouse insulting Edison, you would say, "Mice don't worry, you can't insult Edison."

How much less can any man insult the Creator of the universe?

THE Tribuna of Rome announces an interesting ceremony.

Italy's king and queen, in full state, accompanied by Crown Prince Humbert and other princes, will visit Pope Pius in the Vatican, the first visit of Italian royalty to the Pope since 1870, and the days of Garibaldi.

After an intimate meeting between the Pope and the royal family, the royal party will enter St. Peter's to render homage at the tomb of St. Peter.

The proposed picturesque confirmation of renewed friendliness between the Italian monarchy and the Pope, arranged by Mussolini, is of great historical interest.

HALDANE, eminent British biologist, says the Negro race in Africa will gradually die because Negroes move to big cities. Had they remained in the country, says Haldane, they might gradually have equalled the white in number.

But city life kills them.

That statement appears to be confirmed by statistics in New York City.

The death rate in the Negro section is 40 per cent higher than throughout the city as a whole. There are 300,000 Negroes in New York City, and the health problem is a serious one.

NARCOTIC RAID NETS BIG HAUL

TOLEDO, Oct. 26.—Six persons were arrested and narcotics valued at more than $1,000 were confiscated by federal authorities in a series of raids here today.

Councilman Fleming O. K.'s Garbage Tax

STEUBENVILLE PLAN FAVORED IN LEVY VOTE

Half-mill Proposal on November 5 Ballot.

MEANS COST CUT
Lawmaker Explains System in Down-river City.

Councilman Harry Fleming today appealed for support of the proposed one-half mill tax levy, providing for the free collection of garbage in East Liverpool, which will be submitted at the November 5 election.

Cost Cut to Six Cents.
Fleming's approval of the plan followed a visit which he and four colleagues made to Steubenville a few weeks ago where the system, adopted last year, was investigated.

"People of Steubenville are enthused over the free collection of garbage," Fleming said. "They find that their garbage is now being removed at about one-fourth the cost under the old system of each family paying its own bill. "Garbage is now collected in Steubenville in a systematic manner at an expense of six cents a can against 25 cents a can which was charged previously. Until this year garbage was scattered in alleys, vacant lots, back yards and any place there just to get rid of it."

Two-Can System.
A two-can system has been adopted in Steubenville, the councilman said. The work is done under a private contract.

Collections are made once each week. A disinfectant can is left when the filled receptacle is taken away. The garbage is not emptied from the cans into a wagon but is taken to the disposal plant, eliminating all unpleasant odors of the old style garbage wagon. Double-deck trucks and wagons are used. The cost of the free collection system will be 50 cents on each $1,000 property valuation. The property owner, with a home valued at $3,000, would pay $1.50 a year. The cost at present is $6.50 a year if a 25-cent can is emptied bi-weekly.

The proposed levy, which will be outside the 15-mill limitation, will be for a period of five years.

TWO CHURCH UNITS MERGED

PIQUA, O., Oct. 26.—(INS)—A new church organization, which brought together 1,800,000 members of two denominations, today had been formed here following the merger of the National Council of Congregational Churches and the general convention of the Christian church.

It is to be known as the General Council of the Congregations and Christian churches. Both creeds will keep their articles of faith and beliefs intact, according to the plans, but one body or council will govern the affairs of the two denominations.

Realization of the merger came yesterday at the closing session of the annual meeting of the Christian church delegates.

OHIO SENATOR SERIOUSLY ILL

Because of the senator's advanced age of 77, he is faced with a hard fight against a complication of diseases, but the attitude of his close friends was more hopeful today.

ARMED BANDIT HOLDS UP WOMAN

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26.—(INS)—An armed Negro bandit held up and robbed Mrs. Fred A. Bort of $565 as she was opening up her husband's grocery store here today. Mrs. Bort has been operating the grocery for the past two weeks as her husband is confined to a hospital because of illness.

ASKS LEVY VOTE

Councilman Harry Fleming, today, appealed for support of the proposed free garbage collection tax levy which will be submitted to the voters at the November 5 election.

CONVICT SLAIN AS HE FLEES

Ohio Prison Guards Kill Charles S. Allen.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26.—(INS)—An Ohio state penitentiary convict, Charles S. Allen, 23, is dead here today as the result of gunshot wounds which he received last night when he broke loose from two guards and made a dash for the prison wall.

Both of the guards, after uttering commands to halt, opened fire on the fleeing prisoner and two bullets from their guns stopped Allen in his tracks.

The convict, who was received at the penitentiary six years ago, almost to the month from Summit county, had called the guards to his cell and complained that he was ill.

The guards started escorting him across the prison yard to the hospital, when the man broke loose from them and tried to flee. It is believed the man feigned illness, or "played sick" as they say in prison parlance.

A sheet from his cot was tied about his waist beneath his clothes and several pieces of rope were concealed in his shirt.

Warden P. E. Thomas, in reconstructing the supposed plot, said that he believed Allen wished to be admitted to the hospital because he apparently believed that he could make an escape from there easier.

The warden, who has been head of Ohio's great penal colony for more than 25 years, supplied the proposition that Allen was afraid his carefully laid plans would fail, because every prisoner is searched as he enters the hospital.

It is believed that these thoughts struck him as he was being taken to the infirmary and that he decided to take the "gamblers' chance" when he feared his ruse would fail.

He did, and he is dead today. Allen was serving a 12 to 25 year term for highway robbery.

UNKNOWN ADDS TO FAIR FUND

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—"Though the amount is small, measured by the 'widow's mite'—it is large in its wholesome effect," said H. Ross Ake, state treasurer, today as he announced the receipt of $1.50, together with an unsigned letter which stated that the money really belonged to the 1928 Ohio state fair fund.

Ake would not say in what town the letter had been posted, and commended the action of the penitent. He suggested that there might be others who should, "go thou and do likewise."

FLIER'S NOTE REPORTED FOUND

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—A message purported to be from Urban F. Diteman, cowboy flier lost in an attempt to span the Atlantic by air, was washed ashore in a bottle at Blackpool today.

"Save me. Just off Fleetwood. Please rescue."

The signature has been deciphered as "Dernman," but it is believed it was intended to be "Diteman."

Little credence is attached to the message. It is believed to be a hoax.

Fleetwood is on the west coast of England, just north of Blackpool.

As an aftermath of an automobile-truck crash west of Midland, Pa., on last August 12, in which two persons were injured, three damage suits seeking a total of $71,200 were filed in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by William and Frank Bowers and Mervin Culver, all of East Liverpool, against the Rosenberger Dairy company of Wellsville. Frank Bowers, 32, driver of the car, and Madison Culver, a guest, asks $35,000 each for personal injuries.

William Bower, owner of the automobile, seeks $1,200 property damages.

The petitions, filed by Attorney G. Jay Clark, charge that the Rosenberger truck, operating on the wrong side of the road, crashed into the automobile, wrecking it.

QUEEN MARIE ABANDONS FIGHT

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Faced with threats of banishment from her country, Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania has capitulated completely in her attempt to gain a seat on the regency council, appointed to rule during the minority of her grandson, King Michael, it was learned today.

Following the queen's now famous statement in the Newspaper Universal, in which she accused Premier Jules Maniu of attempting to shuffle the royal family around in a "horse-deal," she was denounced before the cabinet by Premier Maniu as violating the constitution.

Defiant, A. B. Fall Awaits Sentence

Defense, Anticipating Denial of Arrest of Judgment, Will Appeal.

By George E. Durno.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Ill and staggered by the shock, but nevertheless defiant, former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall today awaited the pleasure of the court in which he was found guilty of having accepted a $100,000 bribe to unlawfully divert E. L. Doheny a portion of the public domain.

He must wait a week to hear the sentence that is to be imposed upon him, for his counsel have filed a motion for new trial and arrest judgment which will not be argued until next Friday.

Anticipating that the motion will be denied and sentence passed, Frank J. Hogan, chief defense attorney, today made known that he intended to appeal no matter what the penalty decided upon by Justice William Hitz.

Maximum Penalty Three Years.
The maximum penalty is three years in prison and a fine amounting to three times the bribe, but in view of the jury's recommendation of mercy and because Fall is 65 years old and in most previous health, it is thought generally that Hitz would decide upon a fine and suspended imprisonment.

Even such a sentence, however, will be appealed, Hogan said, admitting it might place his client in a position of being tried and possibly convicted all over again. Meanwhile, Fall, adjudged too ill two weeks ago by four doctors to even leave his bed, was hearing the penalty better than any of the rest of his immediate family group.

Mrs. Fall and her two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Joetta Elliott, were struggling against nervous breakdowns. Mark B. Thompson, Fall's personal lawyer and friend of 25 years standing, who suffered a heart attack immediately following the verdict, remained in bed after a slight relapse yesterday evening.

Doheny Goes to California.
Mr. and Mrs. Doheny were on their way to California. They called at the Mayflower hotel yesterday afternoon and the elderly oil magnate declared his intention of remaining with his old friends. The lawyers, however, insisted there was nothing he could do, and they parted after a pathetic scene in which they wept in each other's arms.

Doheny must return in January to face trial on the same charge. And as this tragic group attempted to pull themselves together, the capital was abuzz with comment over the first District of Columbia jury to ratify the decision of the United States supreme court in connection with the oil scandals of the Harding administration. Even the many who concurred in the belief of Fall's guilt had not expected a local jury to convict.

Roaches Play Tag In Pay Station

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 26.—(INS)—"Stylopyga orientalis" is the latest foe to good telephone service in this part of eastern Ohio.

Lloyd Hiles, a pay-station collector, received a call from an establishment where a pay-phone is located, saying that the "hello-girls" were trying to make patrons pay doubly.

An examination disclosed the coin box was so full of roaches that the coins made virtually no noise in their descent, striking the backs of the bugs instead of the register bell which tells the operator that the "nickel has been spent."

Hiles eradicated the bugs, but even then was called back in a few days to find that the insects of the same breed from all parts of Muskingum county, allegedly, were holding a wake in the coin box where their fellow and sister pests died.

Now the telephone company has added a box of roach exterminator to its collectors' equipment.

PANTAGES JURY STILL DEBATING

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Unable to agree on a verdict during three hours of pondering last night, the jury deciding the guilt or innocence of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, today was to emerge from its quarters and resume its debate.

The seven women and five men who have been given the task of weighing the criminal attack charges brought against Pantages by 17-year-old Eunice Pringle were locked up at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Taking no chances on the millionaire defendant not appearing when the jury resumes work today, Superior Judge Charles Fricke ordered a sheriff's guard to be placed over the man.

Will T. Blake, state director of industrial relations, formerly of East Liverpool, discussed the work of his department last night in a radio address broadcast from station WEO, Ohio State university, Columbus.

MEAT MARKET OWNER IS RUN DOWN BY TRUCK

George Johnson, 48, Is Instantly Killed.

SKULL CRUSHED

Funeral Services Will Be Held on Monday.

George Johnson, 48, of Leetonia, meat shop owner, was instantly killed at 8:30 o'clock last night when he was run down by a motor truck owned by the Columbiana Pump company and driven by James Horton, while walking along the Columbiana - New Waterford road, four miles west of Leetonia.

His skull was fractured, one leg broken and he was bruised about the body.

Johnson, accompanied by his son, Joseph, and Mr. W. J. Astry of Salem, had parked their automobile in the road and started across the highway when the truck bore down upon them, police said. His son and the physician managed to jump clear of its path while Johnson was struck and hurled 50 feet.

Johnson, who had lived in Leetonia for 28 years, was a member of the Methodist church, Knights of Pythias and Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He leaves his widow, three sons, Leland, Joseph and Robert; one daughter, Mary Catherine; his father, Agure Johnson, Washingtonville; two brothers, Edwin, Columbiana; Arthur, Washingtonville, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Stephens, Columbiana, and Mrs. Harry Bowker, Alliance.

Police Are Blamed In Hand Escape

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—The Washington Times, which is daily printing an expose of police conditions in the national capital, published a story today asserting that the escape of William Wilbur Hand, Ohio bank robber, from jail here Wednesday was due to police connivance.

Hand, who was wanted by Ohio authorities, walked out of the jail after unlocking two doors with one of the jail keys. One policeman has been suspended as a result of it.

According to the Times story, a headquarters detective slipped "a Washington racketeer" into the rear entrance of the jail where Hand was held.

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

By Hazel Livingston

What Has Gone Before.

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant and beautiful, reluctantly drops her latest beau, Mat Tully, when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man "as she did." At the rich Crakes' home party, Nancy receives the attention of Jack Beamer, handsome sportsman unhappily married. Nancy and Louise, her sister, are called home. Their rich Aunt Ellie has arrived. She promises the girls a trip to Yosemite. Nancy hears from Jack Beamer. She pictures herself as the second Mrs. Beamer. Arrived at Yosemite, Nancy finds it dull until a handsome man enters the door. Next day Nancy "meets" him. He is Roger Decatur, a ranger. The Porters, rich but dull relatives, arrive. Nancy plans to use them as chaperones on a mountain trip to meet Roger.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER X.
Nancy Hollenbeck actually went into the High Sierras with the Porters. Without knowing just how it happened, they had altered their plans and decided to motor over the Big Oak Flat Road, up into the mountain country above the Valley, over the Tioga Pass to blue Lake Tahoe beyond.

"You better all come," Mrs. Porter invited hospitably. "Plenty room for all, Mrs. Watson. When will preach in the city hall; the Barnett sisters of Akron will sing at the afternoon service; Prof. Messer will sing; special music by the East Liverpool and Rewell orchestras."

wanted, didn't even see them go. Towards 10 o'clock, when the crowd was beginning to thin out and only a dozen or so were left, the door opened and a tall, sunburnt ranger entered.

Gladsys saw him first. Her pale blue eyes widened, and she wondered if she ought to speak. It was the young man Nancy had introduced to them at the Awahnee—Mr. Decatur. She looked hastily away, and gulped, summoning all her courage.

"Nancy, here comes Mr. Decatur," she was going to say, but Nancy had seen him. She stood up, laughing, both hands outstretched. "Roger! This is a surprise. What are you doing way up here?" Roger Decatur took her small hands in his, leaned over her chuckling, plainly not the least bit surprised.

"You remember the Porter girls—Essie and Gladys? Mr. Decatur, you know. And Mr. Keeler and Mr. Whipple." The men shook hands, without enthusiasm. The ranger turned back to Nancy. They began to talk, laughing, his fair head and her bright bronze one close together.

"Yes, we're traveling all over," Essie chattered on brightly to the young man nearest her, Mr. Whipple. "We love nature. Do you like nature, Mr. Whipple?"

Mr. Whipple nodded in the affirmative. "Very much." Essie tried again. "This would be a beautiful place to dance, if we had some music. I was just thinking, we could put on the radio..."

Mr. Keeler, hands deep in his pockets, had slumped back in his chair. Gladys was staring fixedly, a weak smile on her large, pale face, at an old calendar on the wall.

"Ready to turn in, Al?" Mr. Whipple growled.

"Might as well," Mr. Keeler returned. When they were gone Essie consulted her little diamond studded wrist watch. "Quarter to eleven. Did you know it was that late?" Gladys rose thankfully.

"Shall we wait for you?" Essie sang.

"No, don't you think of it! You girls go right along and get your rest, and I'll be along in two shakes. There are some things about the trails I want to ask Roger. Can't let an opportunity like this get by! Don't wait for me! I'll sneak in softly!" Nancy was sweetness itself.

But it was very late when she slipped into the canvas cabin she shared with the girls, and slipped, three days, starting Monday.

Wellsville Nominees

Raymond Knepper, Wellsville's youngest city solicitor, is preparing to serve his second term.

Becoming legal counsel at the age of 24 years for the municipal corporation, he is completing his initial term in office and, re-nominated on the Republican ticket at the August primaries, he faces the Nov. 5 election without opposition.

He was born in Wellsville and has been a resident of the city virtually since his birth, with the exception, of course, of a few years when he was a law student.

He graduated from Wellsville high school as an honor student and for two years studied under Attorney W. F. Lones, Wellsville, now common pleas court judge.

Then he went to law school at Ohio Northern university, Ada.

From Ohio Northern he graduated with honors, too. In addition, he won a special prize for legal research work awarded by a law book firm. The award was made at commencement exercises when he received his diploma.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Knepper of 328 Riverside avenue.

Sidewalk Painting Prohibited

City council has taken a step in the right direction in prohibiting painting or marking of sidewalks, a practice which was carried to extremes by friends of candidates who sought recognition in the primaries last August.
An ordinance, carrying an emergency clause, which makes it effective upon approval by the mayor, and he has announced that he will sign it, provides a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 upon conviction of violation of the ban.
As a result of this legislation, sidewalks in business and residential zones and concrete retaining walls in other zones will not be covered with signs urging support of political aspirants in the November 5 election.
The public will commend the action of the municipal lawmakers, for complaints poured in from all sections of the city after the August balloting because of the unsightly appearance of sidewalks. And, too, it was necessary to give a coating of cement and lime to concrete walls to cover up the free advertising placed thereon by candidates, both successful and unsuccessful.
If the legislation is enforced, novices in the painting business shall be compelled to use their brushes on less conspicuous places.

Air Carrying Records Broken

All air carrying records were shattered when the great 12-motored Dornier flying ship, DO-X, recently, with 169 persons aboard—150 passengers, nine stowaways and her crew of ten. Her motors, developing 6,500 horsepower, lifted her 52-ton burden into the air in just 52 seconds and drove her over her course at an average speed of 106 miles, but she attained on her flight a maximum speed of 146.7 miles and a maximum altitude of 18,500 feet.
Previous to the Dornier's test flight the greatest number of persons ever carried in the air was 85, by the Graf Zeppelin, and 50 was the greatest number ever carried in a heavier-than-air machine.
Moritz Dornier, who commanded the ship on its flight, a brother of Dr. Dornier, the head of the corporation which built her, said, following the circuit of Lake Constance:
"We could have carried 300 the same distance if we'd been able to crowd them in. Besides, we carried enough fuel today to fly 745 miles, and could easily have carried today's contingent that distance had we so planned."
The Dornier people have good reason to be jubilant over the fine showing made by the Grey Albatross, as the DO-X is commonly referred to in Switzerland and Germany. She stood a mighty test superbly, the demonstration standing out the more brilliantly when it is considered that she carried on her test flight over twice as many passengers, to say nothing of the nine stowaways, she was designed to carry.
And the German people may well be proud of the big Dornier, as it adds another to the three notable engineering and construction triumphs designed by Germans and turned out by German plants—Graf Zeppelin, the 10,000-ton cruiser, Ersatz Prussen, and the 6,000-ton cruiser, Koenigsburg, each of which sea-going vessels easily outclasses any vessel of its class in any other than the German navy.
In common fairness, the marvelous initiative of air and sea-going vessels alike can not be gainsaid, and the feats of some of her undersea vessels during the World War show that the Germans have great aptitude in the building of submarines as well.

Commendable Spirit

British and Canadian steamship and railway lines have manifested a most commendable spirit of appreciation of the services rendered by holders of the Victoria cross in connection with the Prince of Wales dinner in Parliament building, November 9.
The Canadian Pacific, the White Star and the Cunard steamship lines have voluntarily proffered free ocean transportation both ways to those desiring to attend the dinner, and the Canadian National and British railways and the British bus lines have in like manner proffered free transportation to the same end.
More than this, the British Legion, which is responsible for all arrangements for the dinner, has already collected a fund with which to pay the expenses of those who do not feel that they are able to meet the bill.
It is good to know that Great Britain and Canada have not forgotten the records won by deeds and exploits of signal courage and bravery and still cherish them in memory despite the intervening years.
It would be still more cheering could one know that there is like appreciation in all lands for those who did deeds of valor in fighting the battles of their country, and that there would be like demonstration of it should occasion arise.
There is profound sadness in the thought that deeds of courage and heroism are too often soon forgotten.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.—The work of reconstructing the early naval history of the United States is being undertaken by the Naval Historical Foundation, an organization created in 1926 by a group of naval officers. Although a vast amount of research has been done in connection with early exploits of the army, with explorations, with political and social affairs and the whole set forth in many memoirs, histories, and biographies, the United States navy appears to have been slighted. To mend this situation, the Naval Historical Foundation is seeking the cooperation of all citizens who may have in their possession old documents which have been handed down from earlier days.
The principal reason why very early naval records are lacking is that the navy department of the government, as such, was slow in being organized. The colonists who declared war on Great Britain were not then banded together for anything but the emergency of rebellion against the British power and a minority expected that the end of the war would result in the erection of a new republic. There was no central power strong enough to build and maintain an adequate federal navy. In fact, even the land forces were little more than groups of state or colonial militia temporarily cooperating until the purpose of the rebellion should be accomplished.
For this reason the navy consisted almost wholly of privateers. Merchants owning trading vessels or fishing sloops mounted guns upon their decks, when they could get them, or armed their crews with cutlasses and sailed forth to harry the British. They did so to such good purpose that many historians give this amateur navy credit for shortening if not for winning the war of the American revolution. Nevertheless, so little organization existed that much data concerning the exploits of various ships have been lost or mislaid. Only by getting together as much documentary evidence as possible can an accurate history of the activities of the amateur American navy in the Revolution be competently written.
Fortunately it was customary for shipmasters to keep logs of their voyages; in fact, it was much more of a practice than for army officers to keep records. For this reason the Naval Historical Foundation hopes to gather much material through cooperation of the descendants of early American mariners. However, these documents are widely scattered and many, no doubt, destroyed. It was naval, to keep his papers by him, at all times. There were no such things as official files. If a captain went ashore after a voyage he took his papers with him. It might so happen that he would never sail again. In any event, upon retiring from service it was the custom for the master of a ship to retain his papers.
Such papers, often packed away in garret trunks, spun over with generations of cobwebs, are being sought by the foundation and there is a slow seepage of them into the offices of the foundation or to the library or record office of the United States navy at Washington. As such documents are discovered, they are forwarded and since 1926 when the foundation was incorporated an astonishing number have been sent in by the descendants of old seamen. Not all relate to the Revolutionary period but all to early periods in American naval history. So far the foundation has received either as gifts or as loans to its collection, 425 manuscript letters and reports, 430 old books, 292 maps and pictures bearing on early naval history, 63 models and relics, 174 manuscript journals and letters books, and 336 pamphlets and newspapers.
An interesting example of how these very old papers manage to survive the years and ultimately come to light and into the possession of those who will treasure them most, has recently been furnished. A letter book containing reports and various memoranda of early naval officers was found in a second-hand bookstall in London. There it recently came to the attention of the naval attaché of the American Embassy at London who, realizing its value, promptly acquired it and now it rests among the archives of the navy department's record office at Washington.
The importance of this resurrected document is that it instructs all American commanders to resist the British with all the force of which they are capable and, under no circumstances to strike their colors until compelled to by superior force. Almost in effect, this general order constituted a declaration of war although the actual declaration did not come, according to our histories, until seven years later.
Commodore Rodgers wrote this order aboard the vessel he commanded, the U. S. Constitution, now preserved as the celebrated Old Ironsides. He was riding in the harbor of Syracuse at the time the order was written and signed himself as commander of the American fleet in the Mediterranean.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.
"Early Morning Habits."
What was your manner when you left home, Mr. Husband? Were you grouchy because breakfast did not suit you? Were you angry, perhaps, because your wife asked you for money.
Or because the children were wakened all night and you were awakened when she goes up to give them attention?
Perhaps she asked you to do your share in taking care of the little ones during the night.
You think you have to work while your wife does nothing but stay home and rest.
You think she has no excuse for being tired.
Do you get up in the morning with a wry face, a surly temper and a sharp tongue?
The family have learned your disposition and avoid you at breakfast.
But your poor wife cannot excuse herself—she has to listen.
Some wives are out of sorts and don't start the family off right in the morning but the most common offender that way is Mr. Husband.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Analysis of New York's moods, manners and reactions discover the metropolis is mentally more alert between 10 a. m. and noon than any other time of day. These fleeting two hours, history shows, record the city's biggest achievements.
The staggering coups in Wall Street have been executed then. The most enormous real estate deals, gigantic building projects, bank mergers and such have been similarly consummated. There are many executives so convinced of the magic of these hours they will discuss heavy affairs at no other time.
Save in the theater, every enterprise seems to benefit by this odd morning burrah. Fifth avenue shops do most of their buying then and jewelry establishments say the biggest sales in diamonds, pearls and all precious jewels are at this period.
Indeed, the superstition of "10 to 12" has even touched the theater. Producers like to sign up stars then and calls for talent to report back stage for new productions are set for this interval. And they assert the most promising material is found.
Broadway immediately after 10 is like a placid pond suddenly ruffled by a sharp breeze. Everything swishes in motion in big office buildings and appointments are almost impossible. Fifth avenue becomes tangled with vehicular and pedestrian traffic. Wall street is gorged. Side streets are menacing with cross currents of traffic.
But after the noon hour, Manhattan slides through the rest of the day on its early momentum. It all suggests the brief rush of the sky rocket. No other city after 12 becomes so leisurely. It is almost impossible to catch important people in their offices after that time.
New York's so-called "luncheon hour" is really a three hour stretch of exercise little productive in its mid-day snack. It forgets and consumes quietly becomes torpid. Generally speaking it is through for the day and looks forward to pleasures of the night.

The O'Keefe craze in art circles has attained the fury of a spinning top. Until recently few had heard of Miss Georgia O'Keefe, who was, and resembled the part, a prim school marm in Amarillo, Texas. Miss O'Keefe, now Mrs. Alfred Stieglitz, was a drawing teacher in the Amarillo public schools. She sent a few charcoal drawings of flowers to a friend in New York with instructions to look at and burn them. The friend, instead, took them to Mr. Stieglitz, now her husband, who conducted an art gallery. He saw the hand of genius, and over Miss O'Keefe's protest gave an exhibition. And Miss O'Keefe became the sudden center of a core of artistic light. Few of her drawings have been sold, about 100 in all, although she has thousands. She was recently paid $25,000 for five drawings of lilacs.
Genius is usually incredibly modest and that is why it drifts so long without recognition. A year before George Gershwin was hailed as the composer of the hour he attended a party where I was among the guests. He played the piano when asked as though he might be intruding. To most of us, I believe, he was "just another piano player."

Great Neck, L. I., the theatrical colony, now has a Tuscan apartment house—a group of attached small houses patterned after the architecture of Tuscany in northern Italy.
"What right have younger journalistic upstarts," writes S. D. C. "to employ the first person 'I.' Better such as the elder Bennett, Murat Halstead and Henry Waterson did not think themselves important enough to go beyond 'We.' Such egotism is sublime." Yes and you know what? You can go fly a hawk!

Jed Kiley, who went to France as a soldier and remained to become the night club king of Paris, has come back to America after 14 years and has been sold down the river to Hollywood as a scenario writer. Everybody in Montmartre knows "M'soo Kee-lay" and his snow white Russian wolfhound, the Kiley and Charles MacArthur, the playwright, went to war together and their pranks on a certain general have been handed down to posterity between the covers of a book.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Nature intends to be a kindly friend. It is rare indeed for her to ride over us roughshod. Before passing upon us the sentence of hopeless and incurable disease, she gives us ample warning. She runs up unmistakable signals of danger.
The difference between a wise man and a fool is indicated by his attitude towards these warnings. The head in the sand response may do for an ostrich, but that is no way for a sensible man to react.
In certain physical conditions the fluid substance of the blood escapes into the soft tissues of the body. When this happens, for instance in the ankles or in the eyelids, the symptom is called "oedema." If it is found all over the body, it is called "anasarca." If the fluid fills one of the cavities it is known as "dropsy." If by chance it is the abdominal cavity which is thus affected, it is called "ascites."
All these represent dropsical conditions and the presence of any one of them should command attention. Every such symptom is important because it indicates something wrong in one or more of the vital organs.
There are many causes for these disturbances. Just how serious they are depends upon the cause. In some instances the underlying trouble is a thing to be viewed with concern. On the contrary, other causes are most favorable and a speedy return to perfect health may be expected.
In Bright's disease there is failure on the part of the kidneys to function properly. The amount of fluid is limited and the fluids of the body escape into the soft tissues. The affected parts are of course swollen. On pressure of the finger, the skin and underlying tissues are pitted and fall to fly back into place when released. All natural elasticity is lost because the tissues are boggy and water soaked.
We are inclined to regard local oedema as indicating trouble with the kidneys. In some cases of weakness of the heart muscle there may be oedema, especially if persistent, or if it recurs frequently, is a sufficient reason for visiting the family doctor.
General oedema, or "anasarca," is associated with various heart disturbances. Because of this fact, a thorough examination of the chest will be undertaken by the family doctor.
Among the causes of "ascites" are inflammation of the lining membrane of the abdomen and certain diseases of the liver. Of course kidney and heart disease may have this form of dropsy as a symptom.
You will be impressed, I am sure, with the importance of all these various forms of oedema or dropsy. Puffiness of the eyelids, swelling of the ankles, difficulty in lacing the shoes—these are merely different types of dropsy.
Careful diet, the right sort of exercise, correction of certain organic defects and the building up of the general health will remove the immediate symptoms and return you to normal condition. You must not trust to your own skill, however. You need the helpful oversight of the doctor.

Anyway my eyes are shining most as much as my cat's-eye necklace. The jewelry mentioned, by the way, is made so that it reflects every Fall shade, from the Dahlia tones to the greens and browns. There are chokers, bracelets, or earrings, and these pieces are sold singly or in sets.

Other Editors Say Maybe I'm Wrong

Courtesies to Congressmen.
Assistant Secretary Lowman defends the restoration of the courtesy-of-the-port privilege to congressmen returning from pleasure trips abroad by the following syllogism: A high government official is entitled to the courtesy of the port. A congressman is a high government official. A congressman is therefore entitled to the courtesy of the port.
The conclusion to which this syllogism has brought the treasury department is voided by a defective minor premise. We submit in rebuttal: Constitutionally, a congressman is a high government official only when he is in attendance at a session of congress or traveling to or from such a session. A congressman is not above the constitution. A congressman returning from a pleasure trip abroad is therefore without any claim whatsoever to treatment as a high government official, at a port of entry or anywhere else.
The treasury department issued an order on June 1, withdrawing from congressmen the privilege of having the inspection of their baggage expedited. The decision of that order would seem to invite the senate to add to its inquisitorial agenda an investigation of the real cause of this volte face. A congressman returning from an official mission abroad or coming home to a session of congress or reaching an American port under circumstances sufficiently exceptional or emergent to justify special treatment, will find no objection raised to his being accorded the courtesy of the port. A congressman who is merely returning from a pleasure trip abroad is not entitled to any courtesy that is not equally extended to the humblest citizen who voted for or against him. Standing in line at a custom house is no more irksome than standing in line at a polling booth. —Detroit Free Press.

NAZARENE CHURCH MARKS ITS NINETEENTH ANNIVERSARY

21 ORIGINAL MEMBERS WILL ATTEND RALLY

Nine Visiting Pastors In Services on Sunday.

MEMORIAL MEET

Attendance of 1,000 At Sunday School Is Aim.

Nine visiting ministers and singers, hailing from California, New York and sections of Ohio, will take part in the nineteenth anniversary of the organization of the Nazarene church tomorrow. A feature of the event will be the fact that the 21 persons who were the original members are yet alive and will be present.

Five of the original contingent now live in East Palestine, Minerva and Lisbon. The district superintendent who effected the organization, the late Rev. C. A. Ingham, is dead.

Memorial to Thomas Durbin. The celebration is to take the form of a Sunday School rally at which it is proposed to have 1,000 persons in attendance.

In the decision to have this number present will be a memorial gesture to the late Thomas Durbin, long the superintendent of the Sunday School who, as a foreman at the Thompson pottery, was killed by a train a few years ago. It had been his oft expressed desire that such a number be reached in the Sunday school attendance.

Living in Chester, W. Va., he made this statement to the Rev. Theodore Elsner, of Brooklyn, N. Y., then holding a meeting in the church there. Now by a strange coincidence the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Elsner are here now and will take part in the effort. His widow, Mrs. Emma Durbin, has succeeded him as the Sunday school superintendent.

"Bud" Robinson in Pulpit. Rev. C. Warren Jones, of Alliance, the present district superintendent of the church will be present, also.

In addition, the famous Rev. "Bud" Robinson, of Pasadena, Calif., and his singer, Prof. L. C. Messer, will attend. The former has a record of assisting in the conversion of 90,000 souls during his evangelistic career.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson will speak at Newell, W. Va., on Sunday morning following his appearance at the Sunday school celebration here. In the afternoon and evening he will speak in the city.

SISTERS WILL SING IN CHURCH

Four Barnett sisters, of Akron, will sing at services tomorrow in observance of the nineteenth anniversary of the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair avenue.

They have been heard frequently from Akron broadcasting stations. They have appeared in district Nazarene churches on previous occasions.

The four girls attend Akron schools. They are: Mary, Elizabeth, and the two others.

er period of singing which was directed by Mrs. Elsner. First Presbyterian. Christianity is nothing short of a transformed life following an intimate appreciation of Jesus Christ, asserted the Rev. Dr. Frank H. Throp, of Columbus, as he concluded a week's series of meetings at the First Presbyterian church last night.

Announcement was made of the forthcoming acceptance of a large class of new members preceding the communion service tomorrow morning by Dr. J. H. Lawther, the pastor.

Compelled to return to his own pulpit, the Central Presbyterian of the Capital City, the Rev. Dr. Throp expressed his appreciation at the opportunity for speaking in East Liverpool. "It to be a Christian demands our meeting Jesus as Paul did I wonder how many of us are Christians?" he asked. "Seeing Christ, Paul became a new creature, he hated that which he once loved and loved that which he formerly hated. Such a move constitutes transformation. "Christianity can not be explained; it must be experienced. The flavor of sugar can not be defined, but it can be realized by tasting. To know what Christianity is all therefore must be personally transformed.

Preceding the service was another period of singing which was directed by Mrs. Elsner.

BULLS CHECK BEAR MARKET

Normal Conditions Restored in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. — Normal conditions were restored on the New York stock market today, at the conclusion of the wildest week in its history. Early prices held up well, volume of trading fell off to moderate proportions and an atmosphere of confidence pervaded the financial district.

Trading for the first half hour aggregated 560,000 shares, as compared with 1,228,000 for the same period yesterday and 1,711,000 in the first half hour on Thursday. The ticker was running less than 10 minutes behind.

Bankers with powerful connections were supporting the market in spots. Recognized standard securities, such as United States Steel, seemed to be "pegged" around a certain price. There were no precipitous declines.

Brokers were busy enough "mopping up," however. For thousands of persons with comparatively small sums, ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 have had their accounts wiped out. They were unable to protect their margins during the sensational trading on Thursday and Friday.

Anxiously, many small investors peered at the boards in brokerage houses today, hoping that the market would recover to the point that they could salvage some of their losses. Not only did this condition prevail in New York, but all over the country.

The excitement that prevailed in the brokerage houses on the two previous days had passed. Women were taking their losses more philosophically than men, according to brokers. There was quite a contingent of feminine customers in brokers' offices in the "Roaring Forties" and, for the most part, they were standing their grounds valiantly.

"Goodness gracious, girls," remarked one of the fair sex to another this morning. "I might have known better than to trust that man when he told me to buy—"

Others made such rueful remarks as, "Well, my new fur coat is gone," or "Wait till I see Jack for giving me this buy order."

Wearied brokers were telling amusing stories about each other, now that the tension had passed. One broker was so preoccupied or excited after Thursday's "biggest market in history," that he showed up on the floor of the exchange on Friday wearing one black and one tan shoe.

BANK BANDITS FLEE IN AUTO

PORT CLINTON, O., Oct. 26. — (INS)—Three unmasked and armed robbers, who, yesterday, held up and robbed the Curtice State bank at Curtice, near here, and escaped with $2,500 in loot, are the object of an intense police search throughout northern Ohio today. Miss Alma Lorenzen, 20, teller, was alone in the bank at the time of the actual hold-up. Two small girls were in the place when the robbers entered, but they fled.

The robbers forced Miss Lorenzen to stand with her hands in the air and her face to the wall while they looted the cash drawers. They made good their escape in an automobile.

MILAN FETES CROWN PRINCE

MILAN, Oct. 26. — A grateful populace showered a hero's welcome on Crown Prince Umberto when he returned to Milan from Brussels this afternoon. Terrific crowds lined the streets to welcome the prince and openly express their thankfulness he had escaped death at the hands of the would-be assassin who fired at him before the tomb of the unknown soldier in the Belgian capital. It was double fete-day for Milan, for not only did the public wish to express its gratitude over Umberto's escape from death, but also it was the city's first opportunity to congratulate him upon his betrothal to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

RAIL OFFICIALS PROBING WRECK

ELKTON, Md., Oct. 26. — Railroad officials were investigating the cause of a "freak wreck" today which cost the life of George Rollins, engineer on a Washington-New York Express, and slight injuries to a score of passengers late yesterday. As the northbound Pennsylvania express train was passing a freight moving south on an adjoining track, a freight car suddenly jumped the rails and side-swiped the engine. A sliver of splintered wood penetrated Rollins' chest.

The fireman tried to put on the emergency brakes, but before he could do so the engine of the express left the rails and dragged a number of Pullman coaches with it. Passengers were shaken up but not seriously hurt.

IDENTIFY THREE CRASH VICTIMS

WELLINGTON, O., Oct. 26. — (INS)—Three Cleveland men who were killed late yesterday at a grade crossing near here, when a Big Four passenger train struck the coupe in which they were riding, were tentatively identified today as Sam Glaguzzio, Joe Zingolev and Charles Balish. Their addresses are not known and the bodies are being held here pending positive identification.

STATE PROBES VOTE CHARGES

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26. — An investigation of complaints alleging improper use of absent voters' ballots in Pike county, was launched today by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

Acting under instructions from Secretary Brown, Judge John H. Belknap, assistant secretary of state; George M. Neffner, statistician in the secretary of state's office, and Captain H. L. Hays, an examiner for the state civil service commission, went to Waverly today to conduct a preliminary probe and report back to Brown. A similar investigation was conducted in Pike county last fall by the secretary of state.

SLEUTH HELD ON RUM CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. — (INS)—While a senate committee met today to inaugurate a thorough investigation of the capital's police force, which has been suffering with an epidemic of scandals recently, still another member of the force ran afoul of the law he is charged with enforcing. City Detective Robert F. Langdon was arrested by two federal prohibition agents, who assert they found in his car 10 gallons of liquor which he apparently was delivering. They trailed him from his home. Langdon was suspended from the force and posted $2,500 bond for appearance.

Resolutions are now pending in the senate for the suspension of Major Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, Inspector William S. Shelby and Lieut. Ed Kelly. They were introduced by Senator Blease (D.) of South Carolina.

STORE GETS 20-YEAR LEASE

The F. W. Woolworth company, has taken a 20-year lease on two properties in East Fifth street, owned by George C. Thompson and others and J. C. Thompson, a films in the country recorder's office, Lisbon, today, showed.

The leases will become effective on May 1, 1933, and continue until May 1, 1953. The owners will receive $5,400 annual rental for the first year, and $6,000 annually thereafter.

RAILS GREASED, THREE INJURED

DAYTON, O., Oct. 26. — (INS)—Police today are investigating a supposed Holloween prank which resulted in injuries to three persons here last night.

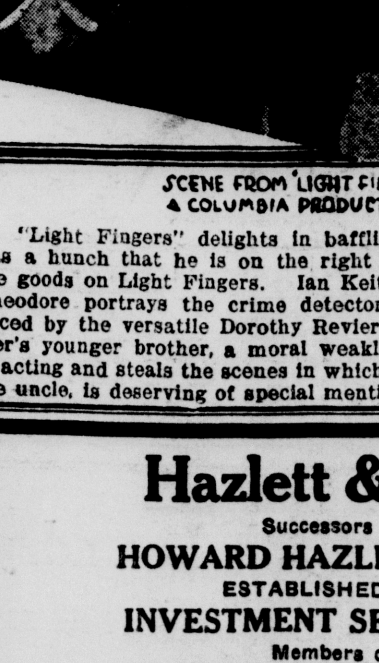

A group of boys are believed to have greased the street car rails on a hill here. The motorman lost control of the car and it ran wildly down the incline. A woman was badly bruised when she became panic-stricken and jumped from the street car into the path of oncoming automobiles. The car finally coasted to a stop.

HOOVER LAUDS FAMOUS TEDDY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. — President Hoover today paid tribute to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, whose birthday anniversary is tomorrow.

"The birthday of Theodore Roosevelt annually brings a reminder of the driving power of stalwart character and vigorous ideals," the president said. "These were embodied in his person and they gave force and substance to the distinctive charm with which he projected his virile personality upon our national life. His contributions to our history are many, not the least being his labors in upbuilding the navy, which has chosen his birthday as the occasion for yearly commemoration of its services to the country. Americans should make the anniversary of this great American's birth an occasion of general and public appreciation of his life."

THEY HIT COLLEGE ATHLETICS

'Light Fingers' delights in baffling Kerrigan, a detective, who has a hunch that he is on the right trail, but is never able to get the goods on Light Fingers. Ian Keith has the title role and Ralph Theodore portrays the crime detector. The love interest is introduced by the versatile Dorothy Revier. Carroll Nye, as Dorothy Revier's younger brother, a moral weakling, does an exceptional piece of acting and steals the scenes in which he appears. Tom Ricketts, as the uncle, is deserving of special mention. Joseph Bonabery directed.

TARIFF LOBBY AIDE HIT IN SENATE REPORT

Story of Employment By Bingham is Given.

QUOTE STATUTE

Law on Salary for Federal Aide is Cited.

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. — (INS)—Hinting broadly that federal law has been violated, the senate lobby investigating committee today reported to the senate a crisp, detailed account of the employment of Charles L. Eyanson, a Connecticut manufacturer's lobbyist by Senator Hiram Bingham (R) of Connecticut, during the writing of the new tariff bill.

Intimate Prosecution. The veiled intimation that some one should be prosecuted for violating the law as a result of Eyanson's employment was contained in a paragraph calling the senate's attention to the federal statute forbidding any federal employee from accepting a salary for his government services from any source other than the federal or a state treasury and likewise forbidding any corporation from supplementing the salary of a government employee.

The committee then reported that Eyanson, while technically on the government's payroll, had been paid a $10,000-a-year salary by the Connecticut Manufacturers association all the time he served with Bingham.

Progress on Bill Slow. WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. — Passage of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill in the "farm relief" special session appeared remote today, unless the administration Republicans turn complete control over to the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition, as the senate continued to grind away on specific rates at a pace which indicates completion after January 1.

The optimistic predictions of Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, and Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, a coalition leader, that the bill would be "out of the woods" by November 20 suffered under the senate's record at the end of the first week of consideration of specific rates. With the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition thus far dominating the rate fights in the face of opposition of administration leaders, stubborn fighting was expected to the end of the long and complicated rate schedules.

The senate today had disposed of 25 pages of rates in four days. With the bill devoting 280 pages to rates, and individual amendments not now being considered, the record indicated that congress would be well into the regular session before the senate takes final action.

If one paper is delivered at the home or received by mail every member of the family between the ages of 15 and 70 years, living at the same address, may obtain a policy at $1.50 for each policy, without taking an extra paper.

50,000 Stamps in Picture.

A life-size picture of a lion's head, composed entirely of postage stamps, was recently exhibited by a painter in France. Fifty thousand stamps from many countries were used, the artist putting 5,000 hours of close work into the highly realistic picture.

In revenge for being knocked down by the motorcycle of a farmer, a French farm hand recently lay in wait for the cyclist's return then shot him dead.

Barker said that he had lost trace of all of his offspring, but remembers that two of them, Florrie, aged 24, and Maud, aged 22, were taken to California by a woman who took a fancy to Florrie 20 years ago. Miss Ohio in the Style of 1851

"It's just too bad"

WE ARE all proud of Miss Ohio. She is a lovely state. In one way or another we are all taxed for her support. No escaping that responsibility.

Now it's "just too bad" but when the "Old Folks" dressed her up way back in 1851, with the "Uniform Rule" tax law, which she still wears today, they had no idea what an injustice the styles of 1851 would become in 1929.

The modern miss would think it "just too bad" if she had to struggle along in the dress of 1851.

Why shouldn't Miss Ohio be given a new outfit at least once in 78 years—she hasn't had one since 1851—so that she can keep pace with her sister states which have a modern system of taxation.

Give Ohio and Yourself a Square Deal

Would you like to live and dress according to the styles of 78 years ago?

The State of Ohio is compelled to live and conduct its affairs under a tax law adopted in 1851.

This law was a good one then. Today, it is neither good nor fair. Because of it 1/4 of Ohio's wealth now pays 1/2 of Ohio taxes.

Styles in dress, business and conduct have changed since 1851. Should the state be compelled to run its business according to the fashions of 78 years ago?

The Tax Limit Amendment Style of 1929

This amendment will bring our state tax laws into style with 1929 conditions. It will give Ohio a tax system similar to that of her progressive sister states whose more favorable laws are helping to create wealth for them and jobs for their people—in some cases drawing Ohio's wealth to them.

Read a copy of this amendment. Every fact about it is plainly set forth there—don't depend on second hand or partial "say so" information.
